R. EDWARD GEISELMAN

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Academic Position

- Full Professor of Psychology at UCLA.
- UCLA Human Subject Protection Committee (past University Vice-Chair & member 14 years; Departmental S-pool Chair 3 years).

Training

- B.S., M.S., PhD – Experimental Psychology.
- Purdue University, Ohio University.
- Emphasis on memory retrieval and forensic psychology.

Current Teaching Commitments (UCLA)

- Psychology in the legal system including eyewitness psychology.
- Research methodology in the social sciences.
- Cognitive psychology: perception, memory, decision making.

Current Research Programs (UCLA)

- Witness/victim interviewing.
- Eyewitness identification.
- Court instructions on eyewitness testimony.
- Jury decision making.
- Published over 100 research papers and book chapters in social-science and police-science journals.

Consulting Positions

- Law-enforcement agencies: Workshops on eyewitness psychology and interviewing; occasional conduct of investigative interviews of crime victims.
- Workshops on interviewing crime victims: U.S. Army, NTSB, Secret Service, FBI, LAPD, POST, LASD, USPI and various other national and local law-enforcement agencies.
- Los Angeles Superior Court: Panel expert on eyewitness psychology [reviewed over 600 cases since 1991, testified in over 300 hearings and trials].

- Developed the “Cognitive Interview” for use with victims and witnesses of crime: Adopted by POST and the Home Office of the British Law Enforcement Agency; included in the DOJ Guidelines on handling and preserving eyewitness evidence.
- Advisory Board: American College of Forensic Psychology.

Books

- “Memory Enhancing Techniques for Investigative Interviewing: The Cognitive Interview” (1992).
- “Eyewitness Expert Testimony” (1996), 1st Ed (1994).
- “Intersections of Psychology, Psychiatry, and Law” (Vol. I-III, 1995, 1997, 2006).
- “The Psychology of Murder: Readings in Forensic Science” (2003).
